1. All elections of the Party, excepting for the Local Committee, shall be held by secret ballot
2. Time-table for the election of National and State Presidents and National Council will be drawn by the National Executive.
3. For elections to Mandal, District and State the nominations shall be accepted one day before voting. Time for withdrawal of nominations shall be fixed after scrutiny. Even if there is a possibility of a unanimous election, the result shall be declared on the next day at the time of voting.
4. After withdrawal, if election is necessary, then voting shall take place on the next day. Separate lists of candidates for the posts of President and members of the Committee shall be prepared in legible hand by the Returning Officer, sectorwise and put on the walls at the Polling Station itself. The voter shall cast his vote by writing names on the ballot paper provided to him from the lists.
5. Only one agent each along with the candidate shall be allowed to enter the Polling Station. After polling is over, votes shall be counted and the result shall be declared.
6. For the election of President, only one name will be written on the ballot paper. One who secures the highest number of votes would be declared elected.
7. For elections of Mandal Committee members, voters will write not more than, 30/ 45/ 60 as the case may be, names from amongst the candidates. Those, 30/ 45/ 60 as the case may be, securing the highest numbers of votes would be elected.
8. Elections for Mandal Committee, District President, State Council, National President and National Council Members will be by simple majority through secret ballot
9. One who will not be able to fill up his own ballot paper can take help from any other voter of his choice. Provided that such helper would not be permitted to help more than once in one election.
10. As nomination and ballot papers of many elected posts are generally similar, separate papers should be printed on different coloured papers for different posts.

Conduct of Election

1. The National Executive shall appoint a Returning Officer for conducting the triennial election of the Party.
2. The All India Returning Officer shall appoint a State Returning Officer for each State for the conduct of elections of the District President and members of the State Council from those districts. The State Returning Officers will in turn appoint District Returning Officers for conducting Mandal elections. The District returning officer will appoint Mandal returning officers to conduct Local Committee elections. The District and Mandal returning officers must be from outside the area for which election is to be conducted. There will be no bar for State Returning Officer to be a candidate for the National Council.
3. Election disputes during election up to the Mandal level would be decided by the District Returning officer. These must be submitted within 3 days of the dispute. They will be disposed of within 7 days. Appeal will lie with the three member State appeal committee appointed by All India Returning officer within 10 days.
4. Election disputes during the election of the District President and the election of State Council Members would be submitted to the State Returning officer within 3 days who will dispose them of within five days. Appeals will lie with the All India three member appeal committee appointed by All India Returning officer within 10 days. The appeal shall be disposed of within a month.
5. Returning officer to conduct election of the State President and members of the national council from that State will be appointed by the All India Returning officer from outside that state. With the permission of the All India Returning officer, the election of the State President can also be conducted as laid down under rule 11 by making polling arrangements at all District centres of the State under the supervision of polling officers appointed by the state Returning officer. The sealed ballot boxes will be taken to the state office. On the day fixed for counting of votes, votes would be counted and one who secures the highest votes would be declared elected. Otherwise the election of the State President and the members of the National Council shall be held (Nominations, Scrutiny and withdrawal of names on first day and "Voting" on second day) at the time of conference of Pra ti.nidhi Sabha of the state.

6. The process of electing the State President or members of the National Council from the State would start only when 50% of the District President and State Council members have been duly elected.
7. The process for the election of All India President would begin only after 50% of the election of National Council members has been completed.
8. If there are more than one name left after expiry of time for withdrawals, then on the fixed day of poll, in all the State Capitals, polling will be conducted by polling officers appointed by the All India Returning Officer. The sealed ballot boxes will be brought to Delhi at the earliest. On the day fixed for counting, one who secures highest votes, would be declared elected.
9. After the announcement of the result of election by the State Returning Officer, election petitions which are filed within 15 days, will be heard by a Three Member Panel to be appointed by the State Executive. Appeals filed within one month will be heard by an All India Three Member Panel which will be appointed by the National Executive, whose decision will be final.

Article XXV: DISCIPLINARY ACTION

1. Disciplinary Action Committee of not more than 5 members will be constituted by the National and State Executive respectively at the National and State levels. These Committees shall draw their own procedures.
2. A State Disciplinary Action Committee can take action only against units subordinate to it and individuals other than Members of the National Council and Members of Parliament.
3. On receipt of a complaint for breach of discipline, the National President or the State President, if he so desires may suspend an individual or a Unit followed by a show cause notice within a week of the said order.
4. Maximum 10 days time from the date of receipt of such notice may be given to a person to reply. The State President within 7 days after the due date of the explanation shall forward the said complaint along with explanation, if any, to the State Disciplinary Action Committee.

5. Disciplinary Action Committee will submit its report to the President in not more than 15 days. The State President shall take action on the recommendation of the Disciplinary Action Committee within a week. If final order is not passed even after the prescribed time, the case will be referred to the immediate next meeting of the State Executive for decision. The State President will communicate the action taken to the concerned person or unit within a month.
6. No final decision for breach of discipline shall be taken against any individual or a Unit without an opportunity being given to the individual or Unit concerned to explain and answer such charges as are made against it or him/her.
7. Any disciplinary action at the State level shall be reported to the National President within a week of taking such action.
8. Any Unit or member aggrieved by the disciplinary action taken by the State Unit may go in appeal within 15 days to the Central Disciplinary Action Committee. The appeal shall be disposed off within two months. But any appeal against the decision of a State Executive will be considered only in the next meeting of the National Executive. The State President shall communicate the appellant the action taken on the decision of the Central Disciplinary committee within one month.
9. Any member contesting election against the official candidate of the Party will be summarily expelled from the Party by the State President or the All India President.
10. The National President if he so desires, may suspend any member and then start disciplinary proceedings against him.

Breach of Discipline

Breach of discipline includes the following:

- (a) Acting or carrying on propaganda against any programme or decision of the Party.
- (b) Opposing the official candidate of the Party in elections to public bodies excluding those where party symbols are not allotted.
- (c) Violating any rule or disobeying any order passed by a competent authority of the Party.
- (d) Taking a Party dispute to any other agency outside the Party including print and electronic media.

- (e) Collecting funds for the Party unauthorisedly, misusing the Party funds or indulging in malpractices in enrolment of members or in the conduct of Party elections.
- (f) Acting in a way calculated to lower the prestige of the Party or carrying on propaganda against any Party Unit or its office-- bearers.

SITTINGS

Sittings of the various Units of the Party shall ordinarily be held at least as under:

- National Council and State Council - Once every Year.
- National Executive and State Executive - Once every three months.
- District, Regional and Mandal Committee - Once every two months.
- Local Committee - Once every month.

In case no meeting of a Regional, District or a Mandal Committee is held even once in six months, the Unit will automatically stand dissolved. If a Unit becomes inactive, the State Executive will have the power to dissolve the Unit up to the District level after giving it an opportunity to explain.

The National President and the State President as the case may be, will nominate an ad-hoc body to look after the work of the dissolved Unit. Normally, elections will be held within six months of the ad-hoc arrangement. But, if even after six months a duly elected unit is not formed, the earlier announced ad-hoc body shall be replaced by another ad-hoc arrangement.
